

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

BUSINESS LAW REVIEW

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY BUSINESS LAW REVIEW (AUBLR) invites submissions for Volume 11

AUBLR is a leading business law review in the nation's capital that publishes high-impact pieces combining innovative legal analysis and practical business application. Recently AUBLR has published articles written by practitioners and academics on business law, tax reform, sports and entertainment law, intellectual property, white-collar crime, and securities regulation. AUBLR seeks to publish innovative articles that make a significant contribution to the field of business law. Authors of color, LGBTQIA+ authors, authors with disabilities, authors from low-income backgrounds, authors from communities that are traditionally underrepresented in business law, and authors representing other diverse backgrounds are encouraged to submit articles for consideration.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Submissions considered for AUBLR publication must have a J.D. or J.D. equivalent and at least five years of legal experience.

OUR REVIEW PROCESS

AUBLR publishes three issues per year. For each issue, our Publication Committee carefully reviews every submission on a rolling basis. AUBLR will consider expedited review requests on a case-by-case basis. To request expedited review, please reach out to our Senior Articles Editor directly at blr-sae@wcl.american.edu.

SUBMISSION SERVICES

AUBLR receives all submissions through electronic submission services. Authors seeking publication may submit manuscripts through Scholastica, or directly submit to our Senior Articles Editor via email. Direct submissions must include a current CV and a copy of the finalized article in Word or PDF format.

CITATION FORMAT

AUBLR strongly encourages potential authors to utilize footnotes and adhere to the Twenty-First Edition of The Bluebook: Uniform System of Citation.

CONTACTS

Please reach out to our Senior Articles Editor with any questions.