

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

BUSINESS LAW REVIEW

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY BUSINESS LAW REVIEW (AUBLR) invites submissions for Volume 12!

AUBLR is a leading business law review in the nation's capital that publishes high-impact pieces combining innovative legal analysis and practical business application. Recently, AUBLR has published articles written by practitioners and academics on business law, tax reform, sports and entertainment law, intellectual property, white-collar crime, and securities regulation. AUBLR seeks to publish innovative articles that make a significant contribution to the field of business law. Authors of color, LGBTQIA+ authors, authors with disabilities, authors from low-income backgrounds, authors from communities that are traditionally underrepresented in business law, and authors representing other diverse backgrounds are encouraged to submit articles for consideration.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Authors considered for AUBLR publication must have a J.D., or J.D. equivalent, and at least three years of legal experience. The recommended submission length is around 20,000 words.

OUR REVIEW PROCESS

AUBLR publishes three issues per year. For each issue, our Publication Committee carefully reviews every submission on a rolling basis. AUBLR will consider expedited review requests on a case-by-case basis.

SUBMISSION SERVICES

AUBLR receives all submissions electronically. Authors may submit manuscripts through Scholastica or directly to our Senior Articles Editor via email. All submissions must include a current CV and a copy of the finalized article in Word or PDF format.

CITATION FORMAT

AUBLR strongly encourages potential authors to utilize footnotes and adhere to the 21st Edition of The Bluebook: Uniform System of Citation.

CONTACTS

Please reach out to our Senior Articles Editor with any questions: blr-sae@wcl.american.edu.